CANCEL CULTURE

CLARITY FOR CHRISTIANS

DOXXED

Bret Weinstein ✓
@BretWeinstein

A bunch of folks (including numerous rando bluechecks) tried really hard to make me suffer yesterday

I feel fine. In fact it's a pretty good reminder of the savagery that lurks in crowds, and seeing others deindividuate and attack like that leaves me glad for who I am. So thanks

A Raid on ISIS Yields a Trove Of Intelligence

New Challenges and Tactics Take Shape

By ERIC SCHMITT

WASHINGTON — American intelligence agencies have extracted valuable information about the Islamic State’s leadership structure, financial operations and security measures by analyzing materials seized during a Delta Force commando raid last month that killed a leader of the terrorist group in eastern Syria, according to United States officials.

The information harvested from the laptops, cellphones and other materials recovered from the raid on May 16 has already helped the United States identify, locate and carry out an airstrike against another Islamic State leader in eastern Syria, on May 31. American officials expressed confidence that an influential lieutenant, Abu Hamid, was killed in the attack, but the Islamic State, which remains resilient, has not yet confirmed his death.

New insights yielded by the seized trove — four to seven terabytes of data, according to one official — include how the organization’s shadowy leader, Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi, operates and tries to avoid being tracked by coalition forces.

Mr. Baghdadi meets periodically with regional leaders or local-

Decision Against Israel Designation Affirms Separate Powers

By ADAM LIPTAK

WASHINGTON — In an important separation-of-powers case, the Supreme Court on Monday struck down a law that would have allowed American parents of children born in Jerusalem to obtain passports saying the children were born in Israel. The president, rather than Congress, must determine national policy on the status of Jerusalem, the majority said.

The decision came against the backdrop of generations of conflict in the Middle East and long-standing tensions between Congress and presidents on the conduct of foreign policy there. The vote was 6 to 3, with Chief Justice John G. Roberts Jr. and Justices Antonin Scalia and Samuel A. Alito Jr. dissenting.

Justice Anthony M. Kennedy, writing for five justices, said the court had approached the question cautiously.

“Jerusalem’s political standing has long been, and remains, one of the most sensitive issues in American foreign policy,” Justice

Acts 5:29 (ESV)

“We must obey God rather than men.”

“I believe with every fiber in my body that what was written 2,000 years ago in the Bible is undoubtedly true ... This world may change, but Christ and His Word NEVER will.”

JAELENE HINKLE

“I just felt so convicted in my spirit that it wasn’t my job to wear this jersey... I gave myself three days to just seek and pray and determine what (God) was asking me to do in this situation. If I never get another national team call-up again then that’s just a part of His plan, and that’s okay. Maybe this is why I was meant to play soccer, to show other believers to be obedient.”

This was a great interview! Adam was very open about things and seems like a genuinely nice guy to know. He is very respectful and unlike some atheists he just politely disagrees. I feel we need more kindness towards people with other religions and beliefs. The best way to minister to someone isn't gonna be by winning an argument, but by being as kind and loving as possible.
